Announcements and Updates <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Staffing Announcements • 2018 Meeting Dates • Open Enrollment Period for Insurance Marketplace • Collective Impact Think Tank <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Program Take Away <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Strategy for Regional Approach to Collective Impact ▪ NYS Prevention Agenda 	Janine Logan, Nassau-Suffolk Hospital Council/Long Island Health Collaborative, announces that today is Sarah Ravenhall's last day as Long Island Health Collaborative's Program Manager. She will be relocating to Albany with her family. We are very sad to see her leave but wish her the best of luck as New York State Association of County Health Officials' Executive Director. Janine also introduces Alyssa Bunce, PHIP Data Analyst. Alyssa welcomes members request for data projects; however, please be mindful that she is working on ongoing assignments for the PHIP. We ask that you give at least 2 weeks lead time for any requests you make. Lastly, Janine announces that Kim Whitehead has been promoted to PHIP Manager of Communications and Membership Engagement. Dates for Long Island Health Collaborative's 2018 bi-monthly meetings will be sent as Eventbrite registration invites. Due to issue encountered using Outlook invites,

members will now be responsible for adding dates to their calendar using the Eventbrite links. We will continue to send meeting reminders and follow ups via email.

Janine reminds the Collaborative that open enrollment for NY State of Health Marketplace began on November 1st and will continue until January 31, 2018. The Nassau-Suffolk Hospital Council is a state-certified navigator agency and is currently holding enrollment sites throughout Long Island. Our insurance partners (HealthFirst, Fidelis Care, Emblem Health, and United Healthcare) are also offering plans through the marketplace. We ask that you please spread the word to your clients, patients and constituents.

Janine gives a preliminary summary on the Collective Impact Think Tank that was held in Farmingdale State College on September 29th. Laura Herman, Managing Director of FSG, lead the training on Collective Impact to find where there are gaps and overlaps in the service provided by LIHC's member organizations. Laura gave a descriptive overview of the collective impact model and reviewed its five components: Common agenda, common progress measures, mutually reinforcing activities, communications, and backbone organization.

Through group work and activities, members informed each other of what data they collect and need. As a result, we found that outcome statistics are a high priority for all. The Collective Impact Think Tank also served as an event to networking and align member's activities, two actions of high importance to the Collaborative.

Based on the information collected, our next step moving forward is to reorganize the Collaborative. The PHIP team serves as the backbone organization for new

	workgroups, now referred to as “clusters.” These groups would form organically through organizational programming in specific social determinants of health (e.g. Nutrition/Food Access group formed by Northwell, Sustainable Long Island, Cornell Cooperative Extension, etc. to share data). These natural or existing partnerships will be buttressed by PHIP administrative support and data reports. The ultimate goal of these clusters is to meet Prevention Agenda objectives. More information collected at the Collective Impact Think Tank and described in The Way Forward will be made available as a report to Collaborative members in December.
NYS Office of Mental Health Community Resources presented by Dr. Martha Carlin, Director, Long Island Field Office, NYS Office of Mental Health	Dr. Martha Carlin of New York State Office of Mental Health gave an overview of services provided through OMH and the difference between specific programs. The On-Track program is completely funded by OMH and patients will not be turned away, despite their lack of insurance or inability to pay for services rendered. For more information, please feel free to contact the OMH Long Island Field Office at (631) 761-2508.
CSP/CHIP Update	The PHIP team has been working on a CSP/CHIP template updated with measures related to collaborative PHIP activities occurring within the past year. It reflects updates to interventions that were noted in the template plan the PHIP provided in 2016. Please remember that updated plans must be submitted to the state by Friday, December 29, 2017. Alyssa Bunce, PHIP Data Analyst, is currently working on updating the analysis of the Long Island and Eastern Queens Community Health Assessment Survey. Although this data does not speak directly to interventions and the CSP/CHIP update, we want to provide everyone with this year-end analysis that looks at health needs and barriers of local communities. This analysis will be made available to collaborative member by Friday, December 8, 2017.
